THIS WEEK'S FEATURED TOPICS

SLOW NEWS WEEKEND

About the only interesting thing that happened that we know of last weekend was that some tardy patron managed to get herself locked into the privy near shop 24 after closing on Sunday night. She apparently wasn't drunk or stoned. We guess the guys forgot to give a yell to see if the facility was "occupied" before locking up!

YOU ARE SOOO BUSTED!

The local Bubbas In Law Enforcement (BILE) have specifically and publically targeted patrons of TRF for "Enhanced DWI Enforcement". They are citing several recent accidents that have injured some and killed one other. Problem is, alcohol didn't play a part in the most serious of those accidents. Reportedly, some locals are complaining of patrons urinating on their lawns. Ok, do you know how far you have to walk from TRF to even REACH anybody's lawn? Further than a drunk can walk, I'll wager. We call bullshit on this whole caper. This is just some toad in local government having a fit and acting out. Figures.

No, it is much more likely that this is all a mice nuts issue that has been turned into a large bullshit Politics of Convenience issue by the local TRF haters and generic country bumpkin assholes in Magnolia. I guess the money spent in their burg by the folks coming to TRF is unimportant and unneeded. BTW, if you spend some of your hard-earned money in a local business in the next couple of weeks, be sure to mention to the business owner that their tax dollars are going to harassing a source of their income.

Also, just a note to Lord Albert: Don't be so hot to jump in and gush to the press about how great it is that the local authorities are targeting your customers. It comes off sounding obsequious and unnecessarily uncaring about TRF participants and patrons. We're just saying...
