THIS WEEK'S FEATURED TOPICS

RENAISSANCE SOLAR POWER

The citizens of NMV must be powered by the sun, because when the sun came out last Sunday, this place went bat shit magical! The energy of the hawkers and performers was awesome. We ambled about for most of Sunday afternoon and saw our patrons absorbing the energy with smiles on their faces. Good job all!

WELL DAMN

After our bright review of the Kinky Renaissance Festival last issue, it now appears that it has gone into an invitation-only mode. We certainly hope our rebroadcast of the thing didn't have anything to do with that. We have a decent circulation, but it isn't THAT big.

PROTECT THE BRAND

Can we be conceited enough to think that our little underground newsletter is the genesis of a paragraph that appeared in the Checkpoint Charlie hand-out? Apparently it is imperative that "all participants of TRF refrain from comments on social media that bring negative attention to the faire".

If this is about us, is it possible that the exposure of TRF's treatment of their vendors and the draconian vendor contract terms that have been revealed over the last few weeks have TRF management wetting their pants? Or is this more of an issue of negativity on the forum, as Lord Albert so eloquently stated on his emo exit post last week?

We think it is likely a little of both, although we can only control one part of it. So here are the playground rules for TRF(WTF?)'s forums, kids. Talk about the real issues on the forum, but keep the snarkiness down to a tolerable level. Our editors have already gone through and deleted some posts (even some from us!) to try to moderate the atmosphere a bit. If some people think we are trampling on their free speech rights with this, then we respectfully suggest they go get their own damned underground communications program. We have beaten our webmaster with small sticks for letting the forum tone get so dark. Hopefully Lord Albert will drop back by and decide to re-engage.

A REQUEST

Can someone with access please check the thermostat in hell? The numerous and long-tenured potholes on Renfaire Drive have been patched and the roadway is reasonably smooth now. Please note that this is not a new mandate to haul ass through Toontown. Stay at the speed limit, yall.

MISINTERPRETATIONS AND DISRESPECT

We received an email from one of the n00bs in the Florence Flea Market expounding on how they will not be back because they feel they have been disrespected this year. Make No Mistake (©2001 George Bush), the derision that has been generated is for how TRF has spun this little experiment up, not for the vendors that are slogging through the 2015 show over there. Our opinion is still that having new vendors at TRF is a wildly desirable thing. Having dozens of new vendors all stuffed into an area that creates an anomaly in the look and feel of the place is not so wildly desirable. To the vendors of the FFM, we sympathize with your predicament and wish you all the best. Hopefully, TRF will try to find a better way to introduce all of you to the greater New Market Village in the future.
